

Julie Tetel Andresen

Author | Professor | Blogger Expert on Language & Love

Combine a love of travel, a passion for languages, and a staunch faith in the value of romance, and you have Julie Tetel Andresen.

"I reject the notion that the farther you are down an emotional pathway, the farther you are from intellect."

ABOUT JULIE

- Professor of Linguistics at Duke University for 20 years
- Romance Novelist, published by Harlequin, Warner Books, and Fawcett Crest, and now on Amazon Kindle
- Traveled to many countries, including extended stays in Germany, France, Romania, and Vietnam

RECENT INTERVIEWS & GUEST POSTS

- The Huffington Post, "Writing as an Aerobic Activity"
- Chicago Sun-Times: Our Town blog, (11/13)
- Southern Writers Magazine, "Dialogue as Verbal Sculpture" (March/April 2014)
- "The World in Words" podcast, Public Radio International

ASK JULIE TO WRITE OR SPEAK ABOUT:

- The role of the romance novel in literature and society
- Heroes and heroines of the romance genre
- The ties between spoken language and written dialogue
- Writing novels and non-fiction

PUBLISHED BOOKS

FICTION:

- My Lord Roland
- Simon's Lady
- Catherine of York
- And Heaven Too
- Swept Away
- Suspicious Hearts
- Tangled Dreams
- MacLaurin's Lady
- Dawn's Early Light
- Unexpected Company
- Carolina Sonnet
- Heart's Wilderness
- The Time Slip Series
- DeMarco's Cafe
- Tied Up (Forest Breeze #1)
- Captured (Forest Breeze #2)
- Knocked Out (Forest Breeze #3)
- Love After All (Spring 2016)

NON-FICTION:

- Linguistics & Evolution
- Linguistics in America
- Languages in the World

www.julietetelandresen.com